

The Walkie Belt is specially designed to carry things you need while walking your dog, including keys, money and poo bags.

Pocket docket

PETS | New gizmo gives you storage for keys, cell phone while walking dog

BY CELESTE BUSK
cbusk@suntimes.com

Those who walk a dog know the value of having a pocket for house keys, cell phone and doggie poo bags.

But what if you don't have a big pocket on your clothing? That's where the newly released Walkie Belt by Dog Owners Outdoor Gear (DOOG) comes in handy.

Specially designed for dog-walking, the belt frees up hands by having a place for just about everything you might carry. It has a zippered pouch for money, ID cards and keys as well as a section for poo bags.

The belt also has a Velcro pouch to hold a cell phone, a clip for an iPod and a clip to attach a leash once the dog is let off the tether.

The adjustable-size belt fits up to a 55-inch waist and comes with doggie bags and anti-bacterial hand wipes. It's available in a variety of colors (black, red and pastel green) and in cotton or an all-weather fabric. The suggested retail price is $29.99. It's available at www.bedbathandbeyond.com or www.amazon.com.

